

CONDO OWNER INFORMATION SESSIONS

January–July 2012

RDH Building Engineering Ltd. will be hosting free information sessions for condominium owners (strata council members, on-site managers, building committee members) at our Vancouver and Victoria offices.

The sessions are intended to provide an informal opportunity for owners of multi-unit residential buildings to drop in and ask questions related to building enclosure maintenance, renewals, and investigation. RDH will have experts available to answer questions, provide information, and demonstrate our unique building asset management software. Topics that may be covered include:

- ❖ New strata property regulations – depreciation reports.
- ❖ BAMS – Building Asset Management System software.
- ❖ Building envelope condition assessments – what are they and why?
- ❖ Roof membrane replacement – do we need a consultant?
- ❖ How do we maintain the value of our building?
- ❖ What you need to know about: capital planning tools, asset management, warranty reviews, and energy audits.
- ❖ How much maintenance should we be doing? Do we need a maintenance manual and maintenance checklists?
